

Existing state law should not be lessened by Federal law. My experience is that I used to recieve 4 - 5 calls daily on average which has dropped to 2 calls per week on average. Indiana law allows exemptions and those exempted tend to abuse the priveledge. Insurance companies in particular will make a call every day even after you ask them to stop. Now, who would ever do business with a company that does not respect ones privacy wishes?